Kulynych/Cline Distinguished Professorship in Psychology
Appalachian State University

The Department of Psychology at Appalachian State University invites applications for a 1-3 year appointment at the rank of Professor beginning in August, 2016. We seek a distinguished visiting scholar to enrich our department through consultation and collaboration on topics of interest to our current faculty.

Required qualifications include all of the following:
· PhD degree in Psychology (area open)
· Documented excellence in teaching undergraduate or graduate psychology courses
· Documented excellence in scholarship in at least one area of psychological research

Desired qualifications include one or both of the following:
· Research or applied interests aligned with one or more members of the faculty
· Documented expertise in teaching theory and methodology

The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to the graduate and undergraduate curriculum, to teach one course per semester in an area related to his or her field of expertise, to collaborate with faculty in scholarly activities that support the mission of the Department of Psychology, and to develop a colloquium series featuring prominent scholars.

Appalachian State University is a member institution of the sixteen-campus University of North Carolina. Located in Boone, North Carolina, the University has approximately 17,500 students, primarily in bachelor’s and master’s programs in both liberal arts and applied fields. Appalachian has a traditional residential campus and a variety of distance education programs. The department has 36 full-time faculty members (34 doctoral, 32 tenure-track) with graduate programs in Clinical, Experimental, Industrial-Organizational and Human Resource Management, and School Psychology. There are approximately 900 undergraduate majors and 84 full-time graduate students. Additional information about the Department of Psychology, the University, and the surrounding area is located on the department website at: http://www.psych.appstate.edu/.

Applicants must send via email a complete application consisting of: (1) curriculum vitae, (2) statement of ways in which the candidate would (a) contribute to the curriculum and (b) collaborate with faculty on scholarly activities, and (3) names and contact information for four individuals who are willing to serve as references to Dr. Amy Galloway, Search Committee Chair (gallowayat@appstate.edu). Paper applications will not be accepted. The initial review of complete applications will begin October 19, 2015 and will continue until the position is filled. Appalachian State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. The University does not discriminate in access to its educational programs and activities, or with respect to hiring or the terms and conditions of employment, on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, gender identity and expression, political affiliation, age, disability, veteran status, genetic information or sexual orientation.

Individuals with disabilities may request accommodations in the application process by contacting Dr. Amy Galloway (Tel: 828-262-2272, ext. 421; email: gallowayat@appstate.edu).

Any offer of employment to a successful candidate will be conditioned upon the University's receipt of a satisfactory criminal background report. Documentation of identity and employability of the applicant will be required before the hiring process can be finalized.